Subject: Microsoft Settlement

If there is one single most broken part of this so called "remedy", it that non-profit software organizations and projects are not protected at all from the monopolistic and predatory practices of Microsoft. The language of the settlement leaves Microsoft free to treat them (including the DOJ I might add) as though there was no anti-trust case in the first place. For more details, please read this article: <http://www.pbs.org/cringely/pulpit/pulpit20011206.html>

A shame, and a horrible injustice.

Thanks,
